Financial Education Instructor

Zoom presentation | Free webinar

The financial burden of autism is real. As a parent or caregiver of an autistic child, you feel it every month with higher out-of-pocket costs and, for many, lower incomes due to the realities of caring for your child. Yet, you can be successful with your money.

Tamara Hull, certified financial education instructor and mom to a son with autism and ADHD, joins the Autism Community Connection for a webinar to walk parents through a roadmap for financial success. Join us on January 24, 2023, at 6:30 p.m. to find out how you can take control of your money, build wealth and secure your and your autistic child's future.
